

In this issue:

- 2021 Exam Amendments
- IB Exam Registration
- IB and University
- EE What's next?
- IB Looking Ahead
- CAS Stars

2021 IB Exam Amendments: Changes have been made to the IB exams. In some cases papers were reduced, in others questions were reduced, and in environmental systems and math no changes were made. Teachers are aware of these changes and will be making adjustments as they see fit. I have attached a PDF of the adjustments in the email.

IB Exam Registration:

More information about IB exam registration will be coming soon. This includes 504 / IEP accommodations for testing that will need to be sent to IB for approval, as well as, registration and payment for the exams. Financial assistance forms will be available.

IB and University:

Did you know that the IB has a whole website dedicated to University admission? Students are also encouraged to highlight the IB experience on college applications (talk about relevant coursework, the extended essay, TOK course, CAS experiences).

<https://www.ibo.org/university-admission/>

EE What's next?

Students should have completed a first draft of the extended essay over the summer. This draft will be submitted to google classroom, and run through turnitin.com. The deadline is this Friday, September 11th. Students will then be meeting with their supervisor and completing a draft feedback meeting. The due date for the completed and final copy of extended essay is Wednesday, November 25th.

IB Looking Ahead

Extended Essay first draft submitted - Friday, September 11th

Extended Essay Deadline (Final copy) - November 25th

TOK - Presentation and Prescribed Title Essay - Semester 1

CAS Stars: Sydney Molaver, Cassidy Nash, Mikaela Ortolano

During the height of the pandemic and quarantine, these students worked together with the BMHS girls soccer team and meals4mcmahon. Sydney, Cassidy, and Mikaela organized and participated in a run-a-thon. Together, with the girls soccer team, a total of 594 miles were run and 2,730 dollars were raised for meals4mcmahon. This program supported BMHS students and families in need of meals during quarantine. Great job ladies!

CAS Stars: Anna Makover and Cassidy Nash

Sweep The Sound

These two students organized and participated in a coastal cleanup that collected 193 pounds of trash! Great job ladies!

Reminder:

Don't forget to enter in any volunteering or activities that you may have done over the summer!!
Log it in your IB ManageBac profile.

Questions:

IB Diploma Programme Coordinator

Nicole Stockisch

stockfischn@norwalkps.org

Follow us on Twitter @IbBrien

Instagram: brienmcmahonibdp

Website: <https://bmhsib.wixsite.com/bmhs>

IB Pathways Office Assistant

Karen Casiano

casianok@norwalkps.org

203.852.9488 x12031